

Is MMCA a "large grow"? What about "vendors"?

Contributed by Matt Vaughn
Wednesday, 29 November 2006
Last Updated Friday, 31 October 2014

MMCA uses contract growers rather than outside vendors, where we have little or no control of growing and processing. Each of our contractors has a commercially and genetically sustainable garden that is under 100 plants. Each plant is tagged as the property of MMCA, and our contractors are paid to tend and process them. As we expand, we will add a "Farmer's Market" for consignment sales of less than $600 for non-contractors. Call or email for more info.